

eARTh. Environmental Awareness and Respect Through Heritage

2024-1-IT02-KA121-SCH-000200196

17-21 february 2025 MEETING PROGRAM IN MILAN/ITALY

Istituto Italo Calvino Rozzano OID E10185982

The main objective of the "eARTh" project is to protect the environment through the valorization and discovery of the territory, the artistic, cultural and environmental heritage, the biodiversity and the endemic species that surround us and, at the same time, to know them better thanks to the study of art, the attendance of cultural and natural places such as museums, monuments, castles, churches, theatres, libraries, archives, parks, oases, reserves and farms to "breathe" and learn about local traditions.

"eARTh" intends to create a connection between the different groups of the different countries involved with the aim of finding a common matrix in the search for one's identity, recognizing diversity as a form of wealth and going beyond borders, removing obstacles in communication, promoting a constructive sharing of ideas between teachers and students.

All participating students will have to prepare a presentation in English of themselves and their school for Monday and another one for Friday of their "places of the heart" (cultural and natural places such as museums, monuments, castles, churches, theatres, libraries, archives, parks, oases) for the month of February, with texts and photos of their own production (not covered by copyright), as the final objective of the mobility, for the collection in a common guide about "The places of the heart on Earth: how to enhance and how to protect them".
